

HearUSA

America's Most Trusted Name in Hearing Care.

HearUSA FAQs:

1) My mom often forgets simple things I've told her. She says, "You never told me that!" I know she has signs of dementia but I think it's possible she's missing conversation because she's not hearing. How does hearing loss relate to dementia?

Answer: Click this link <https://njcaregivers.org/wp-content/uploads/2020/11/Hearing-Loss-and-Dementia-1.pdf> to learn more about Hearing Loss and Dementia by Johns Hopkins University and this link <https://njcaregivers.org/wp-content/uploads/2020/11/hearingreview.com-Study-Shows-That-Hearing-Aids-Improve-Brain-Function.pdf> to see how hearing aids have been shown to actually improve brain function.

2) I'm not deaf. But my wife says I don't hear and need a hearing test. How can this be, since I hear so much. I think I hear fine, even if I sometimes mix-up words. Is this normal? My wife thinks she's ALWAYS right, but this time -- is she really right to be concerned?

Answer: Click on this link <https://njcaregivers.org/wp-content/uploads/2020/11/Instant-Hearing-Screening.pdf> to take our Instant Hearing Evaluation to see if you might have some degree of hearing loss.

For more information contact:

HearUSA

Dr. Chana Lerner

732-504-2309

Or: clerner@hearusa.com

Changing Lives Through Better Hearing